more. After about a year's investigation, this board re-Commended Miller's plan of surface condenser. This condenser has accordingly been put up by order of the Secretary of the Navy, at the Navy Yard, Washington, and is now in constant operation for the purpose of having its qualities exhibited and tested. This is considered one of the most important inventions of the age, as it is claimed that it will save at least onethird of the fuel at present consumed in working the best steam engines, where fresh water is used, and more than that in using salt water. Thus, there is not only a great economy of cost in fuel, but, what is more important, a great economy of space. Besides, it is claimed that although this surface condenser is larger than the present One in use, the space actually occupied by the boilers and condenser is less than in other cases, in consequence of reduction of one-third in the dimensions of the boilers to obtain the same amount of power.

The amount of fuel saved on a long voyage would weigh as much as the whole machinery on board the vessel.

NOMINATION OF GENERAL SCOTT FOR THE PRESI-TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9, 1858. Some time ago I saw it suggested in your paper, of which I am a constant reader, that General Scott, as a national man, with an eventful life, full to over measure of great Bervices and glorious deeds rendered to his country, stood pre-eminently in a position to attract the national sentiment of our people towards him as a candidate for the next Pre-Since this mention of his name by you, it has been taken up by different journals in the country and talked over among those who talk upon such topics. It is evident that your suggestion has touched the chord of the national heart, and that it is now beginning to vibrate responsively wherever the suggestion has reached.

There is not a circle into which the writer has entered where the subject has been introduced, that it has not met with approval by those who favor a union of the opposition, or been hailed as ominous of disaster by those who seek to continue the rule of the present political Cliques of the country.

That there is a great opposition sentiment to the rule, measures and conduct of the politicions—a sentiment strong enough, if fully roused and concemented, utterly to them-must be evident to every observing and impartial mind. It ought to be equally evident that Buch concentration cannot be made by any factional or mechanical arrangement of party managers, seeking to turn the hearty tide of this great sentiment towards one or other of the gentlemen who have spent their lives, not to serving their country, but in practising various arts to make themselves President. The man must attract the sentiment; the sentiment, distracted as it is, cannot be turned or forced upon any one whose chief merit is the nouse he has made, or is making, in his efforts to acquire Presidential rule. The writer of this knows of no man whose life, services and character so pre-eminently arouse and fix this sentiment upon him as those of General Scott. He is, at this moment, the representative man of American nationality. Whilst he is unknown to faction, out of the hands of President manufacturers, the country knows him by his great deeds, great particitism and heroic life; and the mention of his name clusters abound a thousand heart stirring associations of patriotic pride, instinct with a power to dissipate local and sectional issues, to heal petty jealoustes, and utterly to overwhelm the pretensions of that host of puny and tricky aspirants for the Presidency with which the country abounds, to its disgrace, and of which nearly every district furnishes a representative.

The honor as well as the safety of the country requires a man eminently national in character, with a life full of great deeds and inspiring and lofty services, as a lasting rebuke to the mighty littlenesses and quack imbedilates, now set up for Presidential position.

You seem, from your frequent allusions to General Scott and this subject, to be thoroughly impressed with this fact; and be assured the heart of this great nation sympathises with you from its immost core. We have grown to be the mightest of the earth's nations, and most influential for good or for cell; and it behoves us, if we would not disgrace our destiny and be utterly unworthy of ourselves, that the man chosen for our representative man to the world, should be one whose life is impressed all over with the evidences of sterling manhood and patriotism, and illustrated with great deeds, famous in other lands as well as our own.

The writer of this hopes, therefore, with you, t in serving their country, but in practising various arts to make themselves President. The man must attract the

The Paraginy Expedition—Judge Boetin's Instructions—
The Message and Documents.

The Paraguay expedition still lingers, awaiting the completion of Judge Bowlin's instructions, which are to day being copied by the clerks of the State Department. These instructions were all ready some days ago, but the President concluded to make sundry and various alterations and amendments, which were considered in Cabinet meeting yesterday. The instructions proper are not lengthy, covering only a few leading points, for really there are and amendments, which were considered in Cabinet meeting yesterday. The instructions proper are not lengthy, covering only a few leading points, for really there are but a few points in the whole case, but attached to the instructions is a very lengthy syncresis of all the correspondence which has taken place between the two governments relative to the outstanding issues. The rounce that Judge Bowlin was to exact of Lopez a ratification of the Schenck and Pendieton treaty is wholly unfounded. He goes to Paraguay untrammelled by any previous negotiations, and with pleanry powers to negotiate, if possible, a treaty which would be acceptable to this government. If such a treaty be not negotiated it will be the fault of the Paraguayan government, not ours.

Since reading over his instructions, and after full congulation with the government here, Judge Bowlin is sanguine of success, and leaves us in the highest spirits. Yet comparatively a young man, he goes on one of the most delicate and important missions which has ever been committed to the management of one man, and as his success is so will be his political iture at home.

President Buchanan has commenced writing his annual message, and with respect to the Central American republica he merely repeats the recommendation he made last year touching Paraguay, and which resulted in authorizing the Paraguay expedition. He commences his message this tarly, as it is to cover matters of more importance than usual, and in a greater number. The Secretaries, too, are getting up their statistics for the annual reports. Secretaries, and the comparative statement of imports under the present and late tariffs. This statement, I am assured, adds one-fifth to the heretotore heavy labor of that bureau, and that too without any increase of the clerical force, I doubt much the practical importance of the information gought to be secured by Mr. Cobb, as the late financial Crisis so disturbed the importations of the discal force, I doubt much the practical importance of the informat I doubt much the practical importance of the late financial gought to be secured by Mr. Cobb, as the late financial crisis so disturbed the importations of the fiscal year just closed that no rollable conclusions could be drawn from the data thus obtained. It will appear, however, that the importations fell off seventy five millions dollars, which, had they been received, would have yielded, under the present tariff, fifteen millions of dollars. This sum, added to what was received during the year, the Secretary will contend would have met all the current expenses of the government. Hence he will argue that the present tariff, asside from commercial derangements, is amply sufficient to meet the wants of the public treasury.

Our Salt Lake Correspondence

GREAT SALT LARK CTTY, U. T., Sept. 18, 1858. Mormon Excise Regulations-The Devil made to pay Tolls to the Church-Departure of Judge Eckels from the Territory-Testimonial of Respect to Him from the Gentiles-The New Gold Mines on the South Platte, &c., &c. The world moves on about as esual in these valleys

No "street rows" have occurred thus far during the week The "church grog shop" is still kept open; gambling, as usual, goes on without interruption, and men and Mormons drink good whiskey, play a quiet game of cards, and worship their god in their own sanctuary after their own fashion; and, if certain statements in the Deseret Nows of the 15th inst, are to be credited, they even do more. The City Council of this modern "Zien" have recently organized a stronger and more efficient police. They have revised some of their city ordinances, by allowing every man who desires to become a retailer in strong drinks to sell indiscriminately if he will only pay into the church fund so much for license. And by another revisory act they say to the Gentile merchants, who have thousands and thousands of dollars invested in liquors, if you will pay so much into the church fund you may sell whiskey and other liquors by the gallon, but in no smaller quantities. Hence, it will be seen that the whole scheme is a plan for the replenishing of the church's coffers, by charging both Jew and Gentile exorbitant sums for licences, and exacting from the former a heavy per cent on sales in the way of tithing.

This is the way the work of speculation, civilization, and even morality, goes co in "Zion," all of which is chargeable to the recent influx of a heavy "Gentile population;" so the "church" newspapers say.

here about the 5th of the present month, I am informed by a reliable citizen of the Territory that there were a man and a boy frozen to death near the Savrir river in this Territory, twenty miles north of Fillmore. They were thinly clad, and being some distance from settlements, perished in the storm. It was quite cold in this portion of the valley. The eastern range of the Wasach portion of the valley. The eastern range of the Wazach mountains was clothed in beautiful robes of white. In Echo cansu the snow was six inches in depth.

Judge Eckels left this city for his home in Indiana on the morning of the 15th inst., taking with him Miss Polydore, who was reclaimed from a Mormon family some four weeks ago. Miss Polydore is attended by her aunt, Jenie Mayer, the fourth wife of Samuel W. Richards, a dignitary in the Church of Jesus Christ of Letter Day Saints. The Judge will take charge of Miss Polydore to New York, where he will de liver her up to the British Consul, who will take her under his protection, and at his earliest convenience send her on to her father at Worcester, England Before the Judge's departure from the city his friends and fellow citizens, desiring to express to him their personal regards, addressed him the following complimentary note, signed by the following named gentlemen:—

GREAT SALT LARE CITY, U. T., Sept. 13, 1868. GENTLEMEN-I have received your note of the 11th, reason GREAT SAIT LAKE CITY, U. T., Sept. 13, 1853.
GENTLEMEN—I have received your note of the 11th, requesting me to meet you at a dinuer before my departure from the Terrifory. I thank you for the expressions of kind feelings which accompanied the invitation, and shill welcome as cordially as yourselves every opportunity for the expression of our mutual regard. The sectal relations into which we have been forced by the events of the last twelve months are such that it is impossible that we should not have formed close friendships, which will be more durable than the state of affairs in which they had their origin.

Hot my arrangements have been made for starting on the 15th, and that feet alone would prevent an acceptance, were there not other reasons to induce me to decline an invitation to any gathering inveiving publicity. In the assurance and desire of regording you after a brief interval, I am, with great regard, yours, respectfully, Sinclair, Ch. Maurice Suits, Eeq., and others.

While Mormons exult over the departure of Judge Eckels from the Territory, with the hope of a short respite, which they have not enjoyed since his arrival in the valley and long before, many a good saint has fallen upon his knees and offered up his petitions to the God of brack for the protection and preservation of the Judge and his speedy return to the Territory.

Judge Sinclair is here, and will prove himself to be an able and efficient officer of the government and a "terror to evil doors."

A new gold mine has very recently been discovered near the head waters of the South Flatte, Kansaa Territory. From recent reports received in this city it would seem that this newly discovered field of gold promuce to be as rich as any of the mines of California. It is embraced in that portion of country lying between the South Flatte and the Arkansas rivers, extending from the eastern base of the Rocky Mountains as far east as Fort Laranie, and south of that point one hundred and seventy-five miles. My information in relation to this new and important discovery is derived from several reliable gentlemen, and from Dr. Cavanaugh in particular. He showed me hast evening specimens of the gold that had been taken from this nine by some Cherokee Indians, from whom be had procured them. There are but few men engaged in the mines, its discovery being of so recent a date. It is reported that they take out from ten to forty dollars per day to the man. The gold is of a good quality. Quite a large party leave this city for the gold diggings to-morrow morning.

Austria. A meeting of the rescord passengers of the ill-fates Austria-forty two in number-who arrived here on Thursday last in the British war steamship Valorous, Capt. Aldbam, was held, by invitation, at the office of the Ham burg and New York Steamship line, 151 Broadway, on Saturday last. Messrs. C. B. Richard Boas & Co., the agents of the line, informed the unfortunate passenger that they had been instructed to present them, in behal of the company, such a sum of money for the purchase o clothing, and also to furnish all who were destined for the interior afree ticket to their place of destination, with lifty cents per day to pay their expenses. On the route. Mr. litchard then gave to each of the temperature a sum of money, varying from wenty to three deliars, according to his position and circumstances, taking a receipt their for. The company also pays the board of all the passengers while they are detained in New York.

The following expression of thanks to Capt. Aldham, of the steamship Valerous, has been sent to that gentleman, in behalf of the passengers.—

At a meeting of the rescued passengers of the ill-lated Austria, held on board the steamship Valerous, on her passage from Fayal to New York, he undersigned were appointed a committee to express, on behalf of the aforessal passengers, their deep gratitude to Capt. Aldham, of her Britannie Majesty's war steamship Valorous, for his kindness in affording them a speedy and safe passage to their port of destination, and for the officers and crew of his vessel during the passage. THE VISITING FIREMEN.—The members of Hope Hos Fire Company, of Philadelphia, who are now in this city, yesterday morning visited Trinity church by in ritation. They were accompanied by a representative from the New York Fire Department. To-day the Phila from the New York Fire Department. To-day the Phila-delphians will visit the institutions on Blackwell's Island, and in the evening attend one of the city theatres. On Tuesday it is intended to give our citizens an opportunity to witness the working of their steam fire engine, which, though small, it is said, will do good execution at a fire. The engine is also to be exhibited at the Merchats' Ex-change. On Wednesday a dinner is to be given by the New Yorkers to the Hepe Company, who will return home on that evening.

ESCAPE OF THE PASTOR FROM MEING SHOT.—About 8 o'clock last evening a Frenchman, named L. Beerier, entered the Methodiat church in Thirty-fourth street, near Eighth avenue, and, after sitting for a short time in new directly in front of the pulpit, he was seen o take a pistol from his pocket and aim it at the pastor, the Rev. M. J. C. Crawford, and instantly discharge one of the barrels. It proved to be loaded with ball, which lodged in the wall directly beside Mr. Crawford, coming within a short distance of hitting him, which, had it been a little more to the right, would undenthedly have killed him on the spot. The congregation were instantly thrown into a great state of excitement, and for a time it was feared Mr. Crawford had been shot. Becrier was immediately secured by several gentlemen and handed over to the Twentieth ward police. On being conveyed to the station house he stated as a reason for so doing, that Mr. Crawford had he mailted him in a sermon delivered in the morning. From all appearance Becrier is evidently insane. He was locked up for the night and will this morning be examined on a charge of attempt to kill. He is about thirty years of age, and is said to be well known in the city. The pistol was recovered and was also taken charge of by the police. pastor, the Rev. M. J. C. Crawford, and instantly

ACQUITED.-The trial of Martha Morgan, Accent the trial of Martin Morgan, a young widow, called by the letter writers handsome, for the murder of Alexander Allen, a constable in Johnson county, N. C., has resulted in her acquittal. The prisoner was poor but "proverbially honest," and the officer was levying on her little stock of worldly goods, a duty which he accompanied with some harsh words to the poor woman. She seized a shot gun and killed him, and was acquitted, more by sympathy than strict justice.

General Casanova, who left Guadalajara with 1,500 men, was surprised and routed by the constitutionalists, under the command of Depolitato, at a short distance from that city. General Casanova, after that unfortunate encounter, re-entered Guadalajara and surrendered the command to teen. Blancarte.

city. General Casanova, after that unfortunate encounter, re-entered Guadalajara and surrendered the command to tien. Biancarte.

In Morelia [Michoacan], the constitutional forces, commanded by Bianco, plundered the cathedral and took away with them silver and gold to the amount of $400,000.

This is, all present, all the news of importance in this unhappy country, with the exception of an insult of the grossest character publicly perpetrated by an unknown person on the President of the Republic, at the celebration of the festival of Independence, on the 16th. Wallist Gone ral Zulcaga was listening to a discourse of Sr. Pacheo formerly ambassador in Paris, a pack of cards was flungagainst his breast and scattered all over his uniform.

The festivation of the evening had to be suspended, in consequence of the apprehensions caused by the discovery of a conspiracy, whose members, according to govern ment report, entertained the project of assassinating the prominent men of the ruling party and of plundering all the houses of the most wealthy citizens. This was socialism in action, according to the official expression.

The first number of the Junipero, the periodical of Mesers. Villergas and Landalaye, was, for the publication of a caricature, suspended and fined $150.

OUTRAGE BY A NEGRO—LYNGH LAW.—In the vicinity of Farmersville, Lowndes county, Ala., on the 25th ult., a negro violated the person of a little white begar girl. He was arrested and carried before a magistrate. The Selma Reporter says.—Before they had proceeded very far in legally investigating the affair, a large number of persons arrived from the neighborhood of Farmersville, took the negro in charge, carried him back to that place, tied him to a stake, built a log heap around him, and were in the act of applying the torch, when several present objected to burning, as such a proceeding would not be in keeping with the customs of an enlightened and civilized community. A preference for hanging him being then expressed by the majority of the crowd, he was released from the stake, taken to a tree, and hung up without further ceretaony.

CLOSER THAN A BROTHER,

D. C. MORRIERAD, M. D.—

DEAR SHS—I find your magnetic plaster to give better assistation than any other plaster I know of, and many certificates as to its valuable properties could be obtained here from those who have used it; but suffice it to say that I have myself been cured of the dyspepsis, after suffering a great deal for about three years. It is the most combrable and agreeable companion I know of, and will attic closer than a brother.

Yours, very turly.
